UNUSUAL ENTERTAINERS WILL BE AT TINLEY'S 9TH HOMECOMING

Special efforts are being put forth this year for a gala homecoming at Tinley Park. The affair is being sponsored jointly by the 12 local organizations of the village, will be held in Saenger hall and will continue each evening, concluding Sunday June 10. There will be a Sunday afternoon schedule also.

Some of the best entertainers have been engaged which will be well worth anyone's time to drive miles to see and hear.

Friday evening's show will feature, Bobby Kuhn and the four midnight sons. They play instruments and do comedy.

Saturday June 9, will be George Chico, the world's champion diablo

In a meeting held Saturday afternoon at Mokena with Mr. N. E. Hutson, legal adviser in the Department of Public Instruction of the state of Illinois, members of the Frankfort, New Lenox, Manhattan high school committee recommended that as soon as the proposed new community high school district should be established that steps be taken to consolidate the district with the present Orland Park High school district.

Mrs. Hutson appeared to concur in the opinion that this would be an excellent step in improving high school opportunities for the youth of the area. His formal report approving the committee's recommendations is expected within a few days.

Lawrence Kohl, chairman of the committee, pointed out that unification of the proposed district with Orland Park would result in many benefits to both areas.

The Will County area has an assessed valuation of approximately $22,000,000. As the Orland district is valued at about $8,000,000 the merged district would have a $30,000,000 valuation. John Oster, superintendent of the New Lenox schools and a member of the committee, said that while a $22,000,000 valuation could support a good high school, the larger figure should provide sufficient tax base for an outstanding high school. The greater amount of funds available and the increased enrollment could justify increased facilities for the students and provide a lower cost per pupil.

As a specific example of this he cited that a school the size of Orland Park is limited in what it can afford to pay for, while a larger school can meet more pupils' needs, Orland offers shop but does not offer agriculture. The proposed school with its large farm population would certainly also have an agriculture department to serve the students and the community.

The larger district could also probably result in a lower tax rate for the entire area. Certainly more value would be received for each dollar spent. The fact that the Orland district does have some tangible assets as busses and school equipment could also appreciably lower the initial cost of the school and result in a saving for all.

In addition to Mr. Hutson and the committee members, Louis Bottino, county superintendent of schools, Mr. Ralph Town, secretary of the Orland Park High school district, and Dr. Virgil Henry, superintendent of the Orland Park schools, were present at the conference.

Last Saturday Mr. Hutson and Mr. Bottino drove through this new proposed school district to study and survey it from every angle. Mr. Hutson will soon report his findings and recommendations.

SET POPPY DAYS AT MOKENA AND FRANKFORT

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Bobbin-Swinford American Legion unit at Frankfort, will hold Poppy day Saturday, May 19. According to plans made at their meeting held May 10, volunteer workers, under the direction of Mrs. Herbert D. Bixler, chairman, will distribute the poppies on the streets throughout the day. All members and others willing to assist with the soliciting are asked to contact Mrs. Bixler.

The sale of poppies will be held in Mokena Thursday, May 24. Mrs. Floyd Williams, of the Woman's Auxiliary to William Martin Post 725, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Eino L. Saarela, of the post, are in charge of arrangements and the volunteer workers of the Auxiliary will assist Mrs. Williams in the distribution.

According to Mokena Post Commander Robert Liess, the idea of selling poppies to the American public to support a nationwide welfare program originated in 1922 with the VFW.

"The idea took root," Commander Liess stated, "when Madam Guerin of France, inspired by the symbolic beauty of the poppies of Flanders, sought the cooperation of the VFW in selling poppies, made in France, to aid disabled and needy war veterans. The symbolism of the Buddy Poppy as sponsored by the VFW was promptly accepted by the American people."

In 1923, General Frank T. Hines, Director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, officially endorsed the plan. The Veterans of Foreign Wars established a workshop in Pittsburgh, Pa., which was staffed by disabled veterans. These men assembled the materials from which the flowers are fashioned and conceived the idea of calling them "Buddy Poppies."

Since 1924, the name "Buddy" Poppy has been registered with the United States Patent Office as the VFW trademark guaranteeing that genuine "Buddy" Poppies are assembled by disabled and needy veterans. This trademark, moreover, grants exclusive use of the name "Buddy" Poppy to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. No other organization, firm or individual may use the words, "Buddy" Poppy, legally.

After establishing the name the VFW authorized its various state departments to have disabled veterans make Buddy Poppies in near-by VA hospitals and Soldiers' Homes. This procedure is still followed to this day. It is operated under the strict supervision and accounting of the national headquarters. Funds raised from the annual sale of Buddy Poppies are used exclusively for veteran welfare programs. The scope and variety of those programs has drawn warm praise from Americans in all walks of life.

Every year, since 1922, the sale has received commendation from leaders in business, civic, religious, government, labor and other fields. Every president since Calvin Coolidge has endorsed the sale.

Settle Estate of
Mrs. M. Hanuski

John Hanuski, of New Lenox, administrator of the estate of his late wife, Marjorie, reported to Probate Judge Fred Adams that the Rock Island railroad offered to pay a death claim of $15,000 and a bill of $5,810.12 to Silver Cross hospital and Judge Adams approved the settlement.

Mrs. Hanuski died April 25, as the result of injuries sustained in a train accident March 3 of this year. The estate is to be divided among her family with $4679, or five-fifteenths being paid to her husband, $1,871.60 or two-fifteenths to her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Talmage, and the remainder, $7,486.40 to be put in trust in the First National Bank of Chicago, until further order of the court, or until the younger children, Mary, Harriet, James Richard and John Jr., come of age.

Under The Cross
Of Malta

Under the cross Malta stand inside Commander Liess says "Thanks, Fellows!" The meeting Thursday, May 10 was very worthwhile and if all of you continue such generous support we can and will accomplish much. This year will indeed go down in history as a year of accomplishment.

We regret the loss of Comrade Doyle from our ranks. His place will be hard to fill. He did not always attend our meetings, but he has been ever ready to pinch hit when a vacancy was to be filled. Also, he served as a very able service officer in years past. To his family we extend our sincere sympathy.

In regards to Poppy Day, it was first announced that it would be Saturday, May 26th. Last week, we made a misprint and said it was May 21st. Now to correct that mistake and to change the original date, we wish to announce that it will be Thursday, May 24. This is final.

A dance was planned for May 26 but since it would conflict with a dance to be held at Owen's barn on that date and with no other date open, we are planning a dance for June 1st. A good band will be secured for that date.

Plans are completed for Memorial Day. The route of march and the speaker will be announced in another article. — Eino Saarela, Publicity.

$15,000 NEEDED TO EXTEND
AND IMPROVE WATER SYSTEMVoters Urged to Approve Purchase of Present E. J. & E. Well Now Under Lease

The voters of Frankfort will vote on Saturday, May 22, at the village hall on the approval of a $15,000 bond issue for the improvement and extension of their village water system.

The village some time ago was fortunate enough to be able to lease a second well from the E.J. & E. railroad. This gives the village a supplementary source of water in the event of any emergency. The major portion of the new bond issue will pay for a new deep well turbine pump, chlorinator, and other equipment for this new well. The new well has a 16 inch casing in comparison with the present village well with an eight inch casing. The water in the new well has been tested and approved by the Department of Public Health of the State of Illinois. The new well is 315 feet deep compared to the present well of 156 feet.

It was pointed out by the village board that this new bond issue will not increase the tax rates of the Village of Frankfort, inasmuch as the last payment on the village bond issue is being paid this year. The new bond issue will continue on at the same rate as the old bond issue with no increase in the village taxes.

It was pointed out by the municipal authorities that the additional source of water supply is an excellent advantage for the village in the event of a fire emergency or pollution of the well, such as occurred in Mokena. The new system could automatically be turned into the mains without any disruption in the supply of water to the residents.

The total cost of the project is estimated by the engineers at $19,070. The village has on hand $4,070 to pay on this project leaving the balance of $15,000 to be paid by the bond issue.

In addition to the new pump and equipment, there is also included in the project the extension of the water mains on Oak street to connect to the new well, an extension of water mains on Center road and Nebraska street, as extended, and an extension of water mains on Bowen street. The village board urges all voters to attend the election and support this excellent improvement to their community.

These extensions will provide water to additional areas in the village which have been building up.

TIMELY CULTIVATION INCREASES YIELD

A good job of cultivating at the right time can do more to increase yield than anything else. When conditions are just right for cultivating, you want a cultivator that you can quickly attach to your tractor, easily adjust for depth and distance from the plants, and then really cover ground when you get in the field. That is why we recommend the Minneapolis-Moline Universal U tractor with 4-row tractor-mounted cultivator. Its VISIONLINED design speeds up the job of cultivating and makes it easier. MM exclusive parallel links assure positive and even depth penetration.

Entire cultivator frame can be quickly attached or removed by one man. Row spacing need not be disturbed in removing cultivator from the tractor. May be used as a 2-row cultivator if desired simply by detaching outside gangs. We invite you to see us for additional facts about MM cultivators.

"A" Frame, or triangular duct system is an economical, easily constructed type of hay drier.

This well-planned and well-built 70 ft. hay drier mow-cured 75 tons of alfalfa with results better than ever before attained with field-curing.

Both baled and loose hay have been dried on this slotted-floor type hay drier which has been in operation for 4 years. Inspecting the drier is the Ag Engineer who helped design the system.

A Mow-Curing System Will Make Better Hay for You—While The Sun Doesn't Shine!

A forced air mow hay curing system installed now will improve your hay crop this year, and for years to come!

As you know, mow-curing produces higher quality hay and permits you to get more in the barn without the weather worries of field-curing. The hay dries in your mow with the vitamin and mineral-rich leaves still on the stems. Showers, dew, and prolonged exposure cannot leach away the milk producing factors. Because protein-rich leaves are retained, along with a rich green color, mow-cured hay has a greater cash sale value. When fed, it produces healthier cows and keeps butter fat and milk checks up.

In Northern Illinois there are hundreds of progressive farmers using store-bought or home-built systems with many types of air distribution. Standardized, easy-to-assemble and easy-to-store sections make FACTORY-BUILT hay driers adaptable to most barns without extensive remodeling.

Your local Public Service Company Ag Engineer understands all these job-proven systems. He'll gladly furnish information and help you plan a drier system for your barn. Now—while mows are empty—is the time to check all the important benefits. Profit by the experience of successful dairymen. Get the most out of your hay crops, every season, with a forced air mow-curing system!

Where Friends Bring Their Friends

Do We Remember?

The Great Factory is in production again. After a lull in manufacturing its own special product, the process is going again, and the products are being scattered across the land.

For a scant five years the wheels and spikes of war ceased the output of broken bodies, torn flesh and of broken minds. But now the pipelines are full again, and the stream of wrecked lives swells daily.

The process from a relatively short to a trained fighter is a disorienting experience. The actual creation of a disabled veteran takes only a second or two of time. A machine gun burst, a sudden explosion, a sudden and sickening eruption of a land mine, a quick flash of fire, a crashed plane, or the longer and slower process of the longer and slower process of numbing the mind with horror, which all the tools of the factory which makes the individuals of the long parade of disabled veterans.

When life hangs on by a slender thread, when consciousness returns, if it does, then begins the longest, the most endless journey, the steepest trail ever traveled by men. That is the road back to recovery of what is left of life and after that the rough and bumpy road back into the life of the community and nation.

Only those who are products of that hellish manufacturing process—can know what it means to look at our complex economy from the depths of the pit of incapacity.

World Moves On

Of course there is that time of quick and ready sympathy, some times evolving into sweetly sickening pity. For a time there is an honest desire on the part of most people to be helpful. Then comes the realization that the world moves on and hasn't time for the man who can't keep up in the race.

Of course there is an attempt on the part of government to bridge the gap between what a man was and what he is. But that is to which he is reduced quickly even that comes into question soon. Pensions and compensation soon become "easy money" in the eyes of the public and the disabled veteran's cashes his checks in a surreptitious manner, bordering on apology.

Of course time brings its compensations and adaptations. The man survives and learns better to overcome and minimize the handicap under which he must labor to carry on his own load in the economy of the most complex nation on earth.

All these matters are part of the pattern. All these things come about in an orderly manner and each takes its toll. Through it all the veteran is glad that he isn't confined in a hospital and his sympathy runs to those whose bodies and minds won't heal and who face days and years in the walls of the forgotten, in the backwash of war, in the storage rooms of the factory of death and near death.

If people could just understand—if the general public could just be aware—that all the veteran asks, all he wants, and all he hopes for, is a chance to care for himself in dignity and decency.

Disabled Able

The records of a thousand employers prove that the disabled have discarded the prefix to disability and meet the world on the basis of ability itself. The record proves that disabled men, with all degrees of disability, can and do hold jobs with greater fidelity and skill than their whole compatriots.

It may require some minor adjustments in routine, some special arrangements of various kinds to accommodate the handicap of the man coming back along that trail, but the truth is, that he will pay it all back and return a profit, too.

They come from new places now, strange, Oriental names designate the points on the map where the trail starts. Tarawa, Iwo, Bulge, Kasserine, Sicily, Salerno, Anzio, Guadalcanal, now have such names as Pusan, Taejon, Seoul, Kaesong, and Inchon, added to them, but the story and the problem are the same.

You can help. It is up to you to help. Your attitude can make or break the disabled veteran. Don't cry over him, give him a chance. That's all for today. No color will cheer up a hospital room as much as the color in your face.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"One For The Book"

Miss Reynolds, our town librarian, really put a smart-aleck motorist in his place last week—right in center of town, corner of Main and Walnut.

Her car stalled, tying up traffic. Most drivers just waited quietly—realizing she couldn't help it—but one fellow kept blaring away on his horn.

So Miss Reynolds gets out of her car, walks over and says sweetly, "I'm afraid I can't start my engine. If you'd like to try I'll stay here and lean on that horn for you." That stopped him!

From where I sit, a lot of us are sometimes a little overzealous to "sound off" before we really understand what it's all about. Let's try to see the other fellow's side in whatever he does—how he votes, what he thinks, whether his preference is for a glass of beer or buttermilk—rather than simply blast out anyone who "gets in the way" of our ideas in these matters.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Spring is here and everyone in Tinley Park is busy cleaning up, painting up and planting up. All through our little fast-growing village scurrying, hurrying, and working are the pass words of assistants to Mr. Sun.

We are all proud of our little hamlet, and we have the proof. The main street, our Oak Park Ave., is showing off because it has had its spring bath and it is wearing a new coat-of-paint to mark off the parking areas, to help us to keep our parking orderly, and to help us to prevent unnecessary parking accidents.

It is gratifying to see the excellent spirit and cooperation of our towns people in undertaking the cleaning and painting of the street that our visitors see.

The Tinley Park Lions club started in its planning to repair the park areas several weeks ago.

One of the first problems that arose was how to get the street free of the dirt, dust and cinders that fell upon it during these past hard winter months.

This big problem needed co-operation and in it came.

The village officials and the fire department said, "We'll wash her down", and wash it down they did, but what a wash they did.

So much dirt had to be swept that the village now owns some new brooms, but what is more important is the broom pusher.

On Thursday evening, May 3rd, the Volunteer Fire department turned out in full force to furnish the motive power for these new brooms. What was contemplated to be a little job turned out to be a three-hour work out.

The men pushed and shoveled, pushed and shoveled and then pushed and shoveled some more. Our main street was dirty, a full truck load of dirt was swept and shoveled and hauled away.

Right behind the sweepers and shovelers came the village fire truck, their spurring hoses dashing away the last dirt traces and refreshing our highway to drink in the sun-lite.

It was a lot of fun getting our street cleaned, that was the feeling shared by every one, even bystanders helped with broom pushing, a wonderful display of fellowship and cooperation in Our Town.

When the sweeping crew reached the area in front of Carl Boch-stahler's home, they discovered an excellent example of good citizenship, a man who co-operated in the civic duties of our town, a good neighbor.

Having seen what was going on, Carl got out his own broom, and when the sweepers got there they found the street swept, the piles of dirt ready to be heaved aboard the truck.

A bouquet of roses to you Carl, and to the firemen, and to all the good people who helped to make the main drag of our town clean.

Cool Sunday morning, May 6, was a fine morning to be nestled between warm blankets and to drink that extra noggin of sleep, not a good day to paint, with over-cast clouds threatening rain.

Wake up! Get up! That was the noddin the Tinley Park Lions club had Sunday morning. They had a job to do and they turned out in force to do it. Across the street from Cavetts Drugs was a busy picture of men, trucks, trailers, paint machine, barracks, buckets of paint, red flags and markers. At 9:30 Sunday morning the first brush hit the pavement and the park area painting was underway. Orange paint, white paint, and red flags up the street marked the scene of activity with a Tinley Park Lion holding every brush and painting every line. The slowed traffic smiled approval as they passed the slow signs painted on the streets. "It feels good to do a good job that will help all the people in our village" was the remark of one of the Lions while he was painting.

It does feel good, I know, I was there. It feels good to be a good citizen; and to be a good Lion is to be a good citizen.

Two o'clock Sunday afternoon the street was marked, the brushes cleaned, the paint cans sealed, and the painting machine secured through Blue Island was loaded aboard Henry Bechstein's trailer ready for the trip home.

"I'm ready for dinner," declared Selby Hirsch, still puffing in the middle, from the rolls Fred Fremder donated to the Lions for their Sunday morning 10:30 break.

The Tinley Park Lions Club are proud of their village, their and ours, they are happy to assist in making the village safer, a better and a more beautiful village in which to live.

THE first house fly of the 1951 season buzzed in and out through an open, unscreened window of my house last week. I'm certainly sorry he caught me unaware and unarméd. Because if he meets up with a girl house fly, the two of them, along with their children, can produce enough flies between now and September to cover the earth's surface in a layer 43 feet deep!

Fortunately for mankind, we won't be smothered by the pests, but enough of that pair's offspring will be around this summer to throw their weight toward creating dirt and disease. So this is the time of year that we must fire the first salvo in the war against these insect pests. Early in May the flies show up to lay their eggs in damp, filth-breeding places in most parts of the country.

Such spots are pretty easy for the fly to find on almost any farm—even those that appear to be clean and sanitary. Sometimes apparently barren soil can offer a breeding place if liquids from manure, milk or greasy dishwater and slop have drained into the ground. Garbage piles, rotted fruits and vegetables, decaying leaves, and improperly handled compost heaps are other suspect sources.

These spots, along with the chicken yard and barnyard, should be cleaned up now. Temporary manure piles can be treated with borax to make them unattractive to flies. Insecticides can be used if eggs are already present. Then of course, get those screens up and keep the fly swatter handy. Remember the one that got away from me!

Synthetic oil and gas must be developed from coal and oil shales if the United States is to have an "assured" fuel supply, according to Dr. W. C. Schroeder, chief of the Office of Synthetic Fuels of the Bureau of Mines.

WHAT A RELIEF

From Rheumatic Muscle Pain!

Now you can get quick-action, temporary relief from local superficial pains of rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, bursitis, sciatica, arthritis as well as fatigue and muscular aches and pains of simple colds with the new ointment—SURIN—because SURIN is based on a new application of a principle. It contains an active modern research drug—methacholine chloride, a powerful ingredient to dilate surface blood vessels when applied at the point of pain. SURIN provides double action pain relief. (1) It increases blood supply (2) allows local, relaxing agents, camphor and menthol and local analgesic to penetrate faster giving quick, temporary relief at the point of pain. In a few minutes you feel the soothing warmth from SURIN. Then follows blessed relief lasting 1 to 3 or more hours. No internal dosing—use SURIN locally. Not an ordinary rub ointment or liniment. SURIN has a new ointment base, creamy-white, smooth. Easy to apply. Will not stain washable fabrics. Quickly washes off in warm water. Money back at your druggist if not satisfied!

*SURIN is not intended as a cure or treatment of above diseases. It is to be used only for temporary relief of local superficial pain.

GET PAIN RELIEF!—GET SURIN!

Dangers of Wartime

Lesson for May 20, 1951

NOT all the dangers of wartime are to life and limb. More serious dangers threaten the minds, the attitudes, the characters, the souls of those who make war. Some of our readers will find no war a good war; others will draw a line between wars that are justified and wars that are not. But no matter how well-justified a war may be, its dangers to mind and heart are just as real as if it were not justified at all.

—To Decide Who Is Left

ONE danger which war-making brings is that it gets everyone thinking that might makes right. Now might does not really make right and never did; otherwise the champion heavy-weight would always be the best man, morally, in all the world, and the most helpless invalid would be the most wicked.

Along with this "might-is-right" idea is another one close to it: that the best way to persuade others to our way of thinking or to our way of living is to beat them over the head. That has never succeeded yet. You know yourself that you were never persuaded that way. Fists and guns and armies can make people change their tune, but never change their minds.

The way to change people is through their minds and consciences and hearts. One act of international goodwill, justice or generosity is more potent than tons of high explosives. The sending of food, services, skilled help such as doctors and teachers, does more to win friends than any number of armed alliances. The Christian way is always the way of love.

Topsy-Turvy Land

THE waging of war creates illusions. Besides the one just mentioned, of confusing might with right, there is this one too: a nation at war lives in a kind of topsy-turvy land. What is of greatest value is rated low, and things of little value are made much of.

The longer a war goes on, the more of a habit this crooked scale of values becomes. For instance: normally we value life above all things. Violent death is something to make the headlines, and causing death to others is something from which we all shrink. But in wartime we are all tuned, so to speak, to the business of killing.

Whatever genius such a nation may have, whatever productive power, goes mainly to building up the military "potential," devising more and better ways of inflicting sudden death.

Dr. Charles Leber tells of remembering, when a boy, how his father and mother read in the paper about the sinking of the steamship Titanic, which went down with the loss of over 1,500 lives. It was breakfast time when they read the paper; but neither father nor mother could finish the meal.

That was before World War I. But now, forty years later, how many people would lose their appetite at reading of the death of a mere 1,500 persons? We are so used to slaughter that as Dr. Leber puts it, we have become brutalized, we have "lost our sense of compassionate shame."

The Illusion of Violence

TWO last illusions pursue the warring nation. One is that war is normal. In reality, however necessary war may ever be, it is never normal; but let it run too long or come too often, and people take it for granted.

The other illusion is that it is possible by war to end wars, that by one more war, one more victory, peace will be secured once and for all. It never works.

"The one thing you cannot do with bayonets is to sit upon them." Arnold J. Toynbee has warned us (see his "War and Civilization") that "the ultimate failure of all attempts to win salvation by the sword . . . is demonstrated in history."

He might have taken his text from Isaiah 31, or the history of Israel and Judah, for Isaiah was saying much the same thing to both Hezekiah and Sennacherib. But neither one understood him; and so their nations died. For whenever any nation puts its supreme faith in force, and neglects the character of its citizens, or the justice of its institutions, then it has forgotten God.

SMART HOUSEKEEPING

By Margy McNeill

Don't waste food! — take advantage of modern packaging materials which make it easier for you to keep things fresh.

For instance, how many times have you had to throw away part of a bag of potato chips, pretzels or cookies which became soggy after they were opened?

Keeping Foods Fresh

Sylvania Cellophane's packaging specialists offer the following advice for keeping these foods fresh once you have opened the cellophane bag: when you have removed the required amount, just fold the top edges of the bag down twice and hold them with a paper clip or a strip of cellophane tape. The sealed, moisture-proof cellophane bag will keep the food crisp and fresh, even on the most humid days.

Re-Use Cellophane Wrappings
Save your cellophane bread-wrappers. You can use them for wrapping all kinds of food that needs moisture-protection in the refrigerator or deep-freeze. It's perfectly all right to re-use moisture-proof cellophane wrappers unless they're badly torn or crumpled. Just wipe them clean with a clean, damp cloth, make sure they're dry, and use them again, being sure to seal the edges by applying heat or using cellophane tape.

Snack-Idea

prepared for snacks. Buy several pounds of hamburger, and make it into patties, using one of the new patty-ring molds for uniform size and shape. Then stack the patties with double thicknesses of cellophane between them, pop them into a cellophane bag, and freeze them in the unit of your refrigerator or a deep-freeze. When you're hankering for a snack, just peel off and fry a patty or two. You don't even have to thaw them before frying. The double layer of cellophane between the patties will keep them from freezing together.

"Just Been Thinkin' "

If we look deeply into nature's heart, we are always certain to find a hidden beauty expressive of a secret power; but when it is May a penetrating vision is unnecessary—the whole, overwhelming sweep of another Spring pours into our consciousness and fills us again with the love of life. Momentous and miraculous as the Springtime is, it is evident even in the tiniest things; and, at this time of year, in a secluded garden, a trio of trees or a green lawn we can quickly recognize a miniature

PICTURETTE OF SPRING

I love the early morning
When I can smell the grass,
And every lovely living thing
Is difficult to pass
The vines ascend the arbor
With rosebuds in their hair
And merry morning glories sip
The moisture from the air
The downy clouds resemble
White pillows overhead
Which Mother Nature tossed upon
A bluish-silver bed
The sunlight tints the petals
While breezes cool the leaves
And I can hear the happiness
Of sparrows in the eaves
I love the early morning
When things are sweet with dew
And everywhere I see the face
Of God come shining through!
